

Factor VII Testing Source Change

Because of the reported difficulties in AKK owners receiving timely reports on the FVII testing done at U of Penn, and because of the increasing difficulty in obtaining the swabs, I am recommending that everyone use Vetgen as the source for the Factor VII test, and they will also send you the swabs. They can be accessed at www.vetgen.com/orderform.aspx. "There is a litter discount available on all tests priced at $140" according to this website; and Vetgen must be contacted for this to happen. Simply hit the "contact us" button at the bottom and you can send them an e-mail.

Thank you for testing your Alaskan Klee Kai.
